

Anyone for tennis?

Completed red courts

Laying porous sports macadam

Reconstruction underway

Client: Members Club

Programme: 8 weeks on site

Project management services provided:

Health & safety compliance – Survey – Appraisal – Design – Specification – Tendering – Procurement – Project management – Contract administration

Hill Project Management were instructed by the Client to finalise the specification and tenders to resurface the old tennis courts with a new, modern artificial clay surface.

Complications were brought about by the requirement for a retaining wall to part of the area and reconstruction of a significant part of the courts following settlement.

Provision for the future installation of floodlights was also incorporated and services traced.

The whole operation had to be carried out whilst the Club continued to operate around the building works, a significant Health and Safety consideration.

Players now enjoy modern clay courts!
